OCTOBER 27, 1989 (Priced Oct. 27)

Volume XX, Number 20

Market Strategy: October's Downtraft Creates Buying Time

After all of October's market gyrations, the month is drawing to a close with the broad market about 3% lower than at September's end.

Not so for realty stocks, which fell in the mid-month rout and haven't snapped back at this writing. All realty stocks fell 4.9% for the month, the biggest one-month decline since Oct. 1987. This was one of those rare times when realty stocks lagged the broad market (see Performance table, page 8).

Our Portfolio Selector stocks, excluding the recovery group, fared worse, falling 6.3% for the month, as shown on page 2. All Selector stocks except the recovery/takeover group, which moves to a different tune, returned 13.7% for the latest 12 months, vs. 23.0% return for the broader market.

We do not think this divergence signals the beginning of a major negative trend for realty stocks. Rather we are using this decline to add to seasoned growth stocks, mainly equity REITs, and are advising you to take advantage of this downtraft in similar fashion.

During October we've reviewed 16 equity REITs and are estimating a 5.4% cash flow growth for the group in 1990. Since CFS growth typically translates into higher prices, this points toward an estimated 12.5% total return for equity REITs during the next 12 months, composed of about 7% dividend yield and 5.4% cash flow growth.

Will the overall market do better? We think not, since it's clear that profit growth for many major industrial groups is flat to down, and junk bond-financed takeovers seem to be slowly fading into history.

While the economy marks time, real estate is very slowly digesting the massive overbuilding of the mid-1980s and rents have stopped declining in nearly every market we've visited recently. Thus we see real estate entering the 1990s with supply and demand regaining better balance, and without artificial stimuli to overbuilding. Notwithstanding, the lag effect of bad news and bad press still can hurt. Some recent items:

Rouse Co. (ROUS:OTC), major national shopping center developer, was finally profiled in the long-awaited Forbes article (we alerted you Sept. 15 that a negative article might surface). Forbes called ROUS "seriously overvalued" but lumped both operating income and cash flow into such a tortured definition of cash flow that the article lost credibility with most real estate people. The article knocked about 10% off ROUS stock, opening a buying opportunity.

Presidential Realty Cl. B (PDL:B:ASE) stock is removed from Portfolio Selector on Page 2. PDL, a White Plains real estate owner and mortgage lender, reported it has encountered problems in several loans secured by apartment conversions in the New York City area. It has taken back five apartments in Hoboken, N.J. with loan balances of $4.0 mil. Its president resigned Sept. 30 and a new financial officer was named.

Property Capital Trust, (PCT:ASE), Boston based subordinated equity trust, terminated its liquidation plan because it could not obtain prices for its assets reflecting their true value. PCT said it would buy back up to 2.0 mil. shs. (18.4% of the total) in the market, and may acquire new investments.

Property Trust of America (PTR:NYSE), El Paso based equity REIT, won a lower court decision in its contest for control with Sizeler Property Investors (SIZ:NYSE), a New Orleans based shopping center REIT. A Federal court upheld PTR's rule limiting any holder to 9.8% of outstanding shares, in order to preserve REIT status. SIZ may appeal the ruling. SIZ continues to press a tender for PTR shares at $11; the price is inadequate and we advise against tendering.

Rockefeller Group has sold a 51% interest to Mitsubishi Estate Co. of Tokyo for $846 mil. cash. The sale includes the unencumbered equity in Rockefeller Center plus interests in four mid-Manhattan office towers (the Time & Life, Exxon, McGraw-Hill, and Celanese B'gs.), plus some surplus land. Rockefeller Center Properties, Inc. (RCP:NYSE), a REIT, owns a $1.3 bil. mortgage convertible in Dec. 2000 into 71.5% of the core Center property, which has 6.2 mil. SF. We think the deal enhances value of RCP's mortgage.

Portfolio Selector of Stocks For Investment Goals

Portfolio Selector is designed as a working tool for your use in selecting stocks under current market conditions and prices.

Key elements of Selector are:

1. Current Pricing Limit and Stop Loss Points for Each Stock. We suggest initial, or limit, purchase prices in the right hand column which we would follow in placing buy/sell orders with brokers. Stocks marked with a "#" sign are selling above suggested limits and "hold/buy on declines" is advised. Limit/stop loss prices are changed monthly with the market; current stock prices are shown in the adjoining column.

2. RSR's Exclusive Ranking. REALTY STOCK REVIEW ranks actively traded stocks from A to E, with A Ranked stocks recommended and included in Selector (see page 8). Some B and C Rank stocks are added for selection.

3. Stocks Grouped for Investment Goals. Stocks are grouped into five major categories reflecting major investment goals. The first four groups are tailored for mainstream, risk-averse investing. The fifth group, Aggressive Recovery, contains stocks whose yield and recovery are more speculative, hence riskier.

4. Total Return Measurement. Total return from both price change and dividends for the last 12 months is shown.

5. Location and Region. Selector lists major property types and regions so you can balance holdings.

DUKE REALTY INVESTMENTS (DRE:NYSE) RANK B

DRE is a Midwestern equity REIT owning properties around Indianapolis and Cincinnati. After buying 12 buildings with 964,000 SF from its sponsor in Nov. 1988, DRE owns 2.04 mil. sq. ft. divided 41% office, 38% industrial/warehouse, and 21% retail. We hold B Rank.

Gut Issue: Can DRE resume cash flow growth? DRE leveraged itself by borrowing $69 mil. from an insurance company to buy the 12 buildings for $66.3 mil. Occupancy moved up to 86.8% at June 1989 and has gained a bit since, vs. 80.2% at Dec. 1988. But higher interest on the new debt has restrained cash flow, and distributable funds fell 20% to 24¢/sh. through June. DRE cut office exposure in the Sept. qtr. by exchanging two Cincinnati offices for a Cincinnati shopping center and office/showroom; the switch will net 17¢ gain and should strengthen CFS. But a dividend uptick isn't likely anytime soon.

Current value: DRE reported appraised value of $8.31/sh. at Dec. 31, 1988.

Advice: The shares are likely to remain in a holding pattern and buying range at a 34% discount to current asset value until DRE can demonstrate dividend growth. Holders get 12%-plus yield until things start to turn. (KDC)

DIAL REIT, INC. (DEAL:OTC) RANK B

DEAL is growing rapidly as a shopping center developer/owner specializing in medium to small sized Midwestern cities. Expanding from its Omaha base, DEAL has assembled a portfolio of 18 centers with 2.13 mil. SF and 97.2% occupied. Five centers are enclosed malls with 938,000 SF (44% of the total) and the remaining 13 are strip centers with 1.2 mil. SF. DEAL has moved aggressively to expand holdings via both acquisitions and new stock sales. We maintain B Rank and hold DEAL in Portfolio Selector for long-term growth.

Gut Issue: Can DEAL's rapid growth as a public REIT win it a lower cost of capital? Since coming public in Dec. 1986, DEAL has moved rapidly to expand portfolio and capitalization in the stock market. In Dec. 1988 it picked up five strip centers, all anchored by Wal-Mart stores, by absorbing American Income Properties in a stock swap. Then DEAL sold 1.5 mil. new shs. at $18.75 in Sept. 1989, raising $26.4 mil. for new investment. Finally, DEAL is developing two properties in partnership with Dutch investors, which conserves DEAL's own capital.

So far the market hasn't caught on to DEAL's steep growth path. Its shares currently yield 9.5%, one of the highest among niche equity REITs. DEAL likely will list on the NYSE early in 1990, which should boost visibility to investors. And finally DEAL has boosted payout twice since coming public and we expect another boost early in 1990.

Current value: Since most DEAL properties were bought in the last two years, we estimate current value at $19.00-$19.50. But DEAL's sponsors and property managers are strong in leasing, which we expect will increase values over time.

Advice: DEAL shares afford good yield plus growth prospects. As the record becomes better known, the yield required by DEAL investors should fall to the 7%-8% range, giving DEAL a $21-$24 target price. (KDC)

HOTEL INVESTORS (HOT:NYSE) RANK C

The largest REIT active in lodgings, HOT plans to sell all its hotel properties over the next six months and focus investment and management on two lodging/gaming properties in Las Vegas. HOT's strategic decision to exit middle-market lodgings comes after three years of unprecedented hotel building by major national chains, often to tap small market segments. This building has clobbered HOT's franchise-dependent properties, which fly 11 national chain flags at 35 non-gaming properties. HOT acquired its two Las Vegas gaming properties, both upgrading candidates, from affiliates of its managers in 1988 and believes it has the expertise and access to capital to take advantage of gaming industry expansion, which it believes is superior to lodgings. We are maintaining Ranking at C.

Gut issue: Can HOT pull off its transformation and find favor with investors as a gaming REIT? HOT's game plan calls for cash sale of its properties with about 5,500 rooms over the next six-12 months at their depreciated cost book value. If accomplished, HOT would net about $40-$50 mil. cash (roughly $3.50-$4.00/sh.) after repaying most debt. Whether HOT will distribute part of that cash or use it to expand in gaming isn't decided. Also up in the air is whether HOT will continue as a "paired share" entity combining a REIT and operating company, an arrangement which could let HOT distribute gaming profits to its holders without an entity-level tax.

In gaming, HOT has about $40 mil. invested in two unleveraged properties and could spend another $20 mil. or so expanding King 8 Hotel, a 300 room non-Strip hotel/casino scheduled for major renovation and expansion. HOT also owns renovated Bourbon Street, a 150-room hotel/casino with access to the Vegas "Strip" key gaming area.

Advice: HOT shares are now priced at about net book value pro forma the restructuring. We'd hold but not buy until HOT can demonstrate profitability in gaming. (KDC)

IRT PROPERTY CO. (IRT:NYSE) RANK A

IRT invests in shopping centers in the Southeastern U.S. and now owns 65 centers with 5.35 mil. SF. Shopping centers, including direct financings and land lease-backs, are approx. 87% of IRT's holdings.

To grow its portfolio, IRT has begun negotiating with various shopping center developers for ground-up development of shopping centers in Vir. and N.Car. anchored by Harris-Teeter, a regional supermarket chain. IRT would get an option to purchase at prices based on leasing success. The deals protect IRT with risk reducing provisions. Stock stays at A Rank and in Portfolio Selector.

Gut Issue: Is IRT's financing/development program having a reverse impact on share price? IRT is working diligently to increase its portfolio. Two center deals were closed in 1988, at Hartsville, S.Car. and Greenville, N.Car., and two more added in 1989, at Wilson, N.Car. and Martinsville, Vir., begun this summer.

Even with these commitments IRT still holds substantial cash of $30.7 mil. or $2.53/sh. at June 1989. If short-term interest rates again fall, cash returns could penalize EPS and motivate IRT to become even more active in this arena. New deals are structured to return 10%-plus annually, a differential of $0.03-0.04 per share over holding cash. Development lending with purchase options, while riskier, may be the most attractive way to acquire new properties today.

So far, the market is ignoring IRT's move into shopping centers. At $13.25, shares are trading just above their 52-week low and yield 8.8%. Long-term, IRT needs a much lower cost of equity capital to continue expansion. Current value: We think current value is in the $17-18.00 per share range. IRT split its shares 5-for-4 on June 2, 1989 and concurrently increased its dividend by 4% to the current $1.16 annual rate.

Advice: Buy shares. IRT is well positioned in direct financing leases and more aggressive strip and mall shopping centers. IRT currently trades about 20% below conservative value estimates. (MJH)

NEW PLAN REALTY TRUST (NPR:NYSE) RANK A

New York-based NPR buys shopping centers east of the Mississippi, concentrating on slower-growth towns that are not as inviting to competition. The trust upgrades rents and returns by aggressively expanding, renovating, releasing and promoting the properties. NPR's portfolio has grown to 46 shopping centers with 6.0 mil. sq.ft. gross leaseable space. NPR continued its impressive equity raising by offering 7.4 mil. shares at $15.75 in May 1989, netting $110.3 mil. at an effective cost of about 6.7%. Shares retain A Rank and are continued in Portfolio Selector.

Gut Issue: Could NPR's high cash balance penalize earnings and operating cash flow? The affect on earnings is not very pronounced at this time. NPR is earning an average of 9.75% on its approx. $149 mil. cash balance held in short-term money instruments vs. 10-10.5% (at acquisition) on operating properties. The balance of NPR's $165 mil. in cash is invested in securities of other REITs.

The penalty of holding cash is a loss of tax shielding property depreciation and potential appreciation. In addition holding cash costs over 3¢/sh. per year return discrepancy, and NPR's earnings on these funds are more interest-rate sensitive.

NPR's cash horde reflects its conservative philosophy that the battle of real estate investment is won or lost by careful attention to acquisition price. NPR will not jump at a deal unless the price is right. Low acquisition cost of 30% to 40% below new construction cost allows for substantial rental upgrade, and, should competition intensify, successful operation at below market rents. During fiscal 1989 NPR acquired 10 centers, plus one building adjacent to an NPR facility, with approx. 1.51 mil. SF, for $28.4 mil. or $18.81/SF. In Sept. 1989 NPR acquired 140,900 SF Parkway Plaza in Maumee, OH.

Current value: NPR's 1989 appraisal of assets should place value in the range of $16.50 to $17/sh.

Advice: Buy for the long term. NPR is a steady performer whose powerful war chest, low capital cost and fat 3.2%-3.8% spread on new investments has bestowed an impressive growth record. (MJH)

PENNSYLVANIA REIT (PEI: ASE) RANK A

PEI, an old-line equity REIT, now builds its portfolio by joining in new developments via carefully structured joint ventures. Holdings and cash flow are divided about evenly between shopping centers (2.9 mil. net sq. ft.) and apartments (2,819 units). Recently PEI has ventured beyond its Pennsylvania base. Shares hold A Rank and their spot in Portfolio Selector.

Gut Issue: Is Trizec's acquisition of a Philadelphia shopping center developer the first salvo in a move to take over PEI? Trizec, the Canadian realty giant controlled by the wealthy Reichman and Bronfman families, recently agreed to acquire Kravco Co., Philadelphia owner/manager of 30 shopping centers. The Kravco sale hasn't closed yet. Kravco and affiliates are part owners with PEI of PEI's trophy property, 424,000 SF Lehigh Valley Mall, plus adjoining 521,000 SF Whitehall Mall, both in Allentown, Pa.

Meantime, canny Pres. Bill Newman of New Plan Realty continues to sit with 259,768 PEI shs., or 3.2% of PEI. Neither of these players are impetuous: Trizec has owned a 25% stake in Rouse Co. for years and Newman is a cautious property buyer (see separate review of NPR). With PEI stock hitting new highs recently, the market is reacting as if PEI were going to be put into play tomorrow. We don't think that's in the cards. But with two very savvy real estate players nuzzling closer, PEI is clearly a stock to hold.

Advice: Hold or buy long-term. PEI's joint venture approach builds lots of hidden values in a quiet way, but they give PEI lots of leverage in negotiating friendly deals, should it desire. Meantime the medium-term trend is positive with new apartment and retail leasing aiding results. (MJH/KDC)

UNITED DOMINION REALTY TRUST (UDRT:OTC) RANK A

UDRT is an apartment renovation and upgrading specialist also active in shopping centers, located mainly in NC, VA and the Southeast. UDRT now owns 33 apartment complexes with 7,100 units and 16 shopping centers with 1.66 mil. SF. UDRT benefits from a resurgence of multi-family dwellings in its region, strategically supplementing its low-cost portfolio (approx. $23,000/unit) with new properties. In July 1989 UDRT raised $41.75 mil. via a 2.5 mil. stock offer at $17.75 per share. Payout was boosted 3% to $1.24/rate this month. Stock continues in Portfolio Selector and Rank remains at A.

Gut Issue: Will UDRT's cash flow be hurt by weak apartment markets? Due to competition, UDRT has had difficulty obtaining the rent increases it had projected, most prominently in Atlanta where slower renting is costing about 1¢/sh. per qtr. This sluggishness will moderate short-term cash flow growth to 4-5% growth in 1989, vs. 7%-10% historically. But it could also signal an opportunity for portfolio growth by driving down prices for new acquisitions, and thus benefiting UDRT's long-term cash flow growth.

UDRT has done an exceptional job at lowering its cost of funds. UDRT has used proceeds from its last several financings to pay-down bank lines and high cost debt. It now has an effective 7.2% cost of funds, giving it a strong 2.25% net spread of new investments yielding about 9.5%. For short-term capital, UDRT has bank-lines $39 mil. available should attractive deals appear.

Current value: Based on Southern property values, we estimate UDRT's value at $20.50/share.

Advice: Buy to 19. We see continued growth. UDRT is a good hedge against either inflation and recession, whichever occurs. With its low-cost apartments, UDRT should be able to keep units near full occupancy in spite of competitive markets. This puts UDRT in good position to maintain 5-7.5% growth of cash flow and dividend in 1990 and beyond. UDRT expects to list on the NYSE early in 1990, broadening investor interest. (MJH)
